Advertising is to the merchant what plowing and sowing is to the farmer. Imagine a farmer trying to raise a crop by sitting on the fence as he looks over a ten acre field wishing that a nice crop of wheat or corn would spring up in it. Ridiculous, isn't it? But not any more so than the merchant who hides a stock of goods away in a storeroom and then sits on the counter, hoping that people will come in and buy.

It appears that down in Tipton County all a man has to do is to go out, and walk around and his food comes to him without effort. A correspondent of the Tipton Record writes: As I was riding to Phelan on the 6th inst. my dogs flushed a covey of birds. I looked over in the field and saw a bird fly straight up in the air as if shot in the head. It evidently struck a cornstalk. I went over and got the bird. On Saturday the 10th inst as I was riding in the edge of Hatchie bottom, I saw a hawk that had all he could carry in his large claws I followed him from tree to tree and at last he dropped a big fat chicken. I brought it home. One of my hands says as he was driving through the field he dropped his whip and stopped to get it, and one of the mules took a bite of grass and kicked up a rabbit and killed it.
